A real cute provided stand. Where? I hope you have the best of luck with the two men in your life. Think it over and make sure it's the best choice you've ever made. Both have very good qualities. I haven't seen any yet, but I'm sure they are there. Ha! Ha! I hope they don't take me seriously.
You and Guy make a real pretty pair, but also you and Bob make a cute couple. As you "Mick", well that's another story. I haven't met him yet, but I bet he's really a wonderful person. The way you talk about him at times. If you know what you want, you'll know when you find him. And I'm positive you know your stand.

You ever know intimate

Foreword

DOORS

Whitney's doors were open; you walked in to opportunities in the business world.

Many doors must be passed through during a lifetime. Sometimes there will be two; one of which you must choose, rejecting the other.

Look at the kind of door. Is it revolving, taking you for only a pleasant ride but getting you nowhere? Does it open from the bottom, closing the upper levels of advantage to you? Does it lead to where you want to go?

Find your door, one where the windows are not hazy, one where you can see most of the path you will tread. Recognize the barriers as they come along and decide the best way to surmount these.

Even though many doors do not open easily or quickly, never lose sight of your goal. The roads which offer the best rewards are not always the easiest.

Open the doors to opportunities; don't wait for a knocking. Whitney has given you the keys.

To The Class of 1960

During the past three years you have opened many doors. In shop work you have opened the door to vocational proficiency. In academic classes you have opened the door to an understanding of our language and of the world in which we live. In extra-curricular activities you have opened the door to social skills.

As you approach the time when you will open the door to take your place in the adult community, you may do so with confidence that you are well prepared for new experience. Please accept my heartiest congratulations on your graduation and my very best wishes for success.

Alvin C. Bippus
Principal

Often as I sit at my desk, I look through the open door into the busy hall. I watch you hurry by with many important things to do. Some smile; some wave; some come in to talk. It is a pleasant, happy scene.

As I watch, I think of all the things you are doing and planning. I, too, wish for your success and happiness. When this yearbook is one of your treasured possessions, I hope you will remember the door of Whitney—the real, intangible ones which opened to you while you were here.

Beyond these doors, as you tread through life, you will find many more to challenge you. Open them with courage and confidence!

Senior History

As sophomores, Whitneyites became acquainted with their new school's daily routine and functions. Juniors eagerly participated in organizations and became a part of the activities. While completing shop training, seniors entered their chosen fields of work.

Through twelve years of fun and failings seniors have made their way. High school education ends; a new life begins in the world for which Whitney has prepared them.

Stepping into the school year with enthusiasm, seniors entered wholeheartedly into assemblies, class and shop projects. Actively participating in clubs, they gained additional insight through extra curricular activities.

The first dance of the new year lent snowflakes to the season as Winter Holiday was the theme.

One of the highlights was the luncheon to which girls invited their employers. Some graduates will continue working; others will go on to higher education; all will remember the friendships made at Whitney.

On Junior-Senior Day, a special assembly was thoroughly enjoyed as each senior was escorted by a junior.

With spring came the Senior Banquet, exciting and informative Washington trip, the enchanting Junior-Senior prom—for the first time jointly sponsored by Whitney and Macomber. The event for which all have waited came in June—the door to graduation, a stepping stone into the future, commencement.

Junior History

Juniors found themselves in the midst of excitement as soon as the year began.

In September they ordered 1961 rings with pride. These were delivered before Christmas.

In October they sponsored a get-acquainted dance for sophomores. Also in October began the candy sale which gave a needed boost to the junior treasury.

In the spring came Junior-Senior Day with the juniors acting as hostesses, by escorting a senior to a special assembly honoring the graduating class.

Campaigning began in May for senior officers.

Nothing could end the year more beautifully than the Junior-Senior Prom. That evening was carefully planned by the committee to make it one of the most memorable events of high school days.

The success of the junior year could not have been if it were not for help and encouragement from advisor Mary Linville, along with enthusiasm and co-operation of these girls working together.

The desired trade of each is closer to perfection; this means the girls are closer to becoming part of the business world. Many are already working after school.

Ahead of the juniors lies their biggest and most memorable year yet.

Sophomore History

Sophomores entered Whitney in September with a willingness and desire to make use of the fine advantages offered. Each has an ambition in life and has decided that Whitney will help her reach that goal.

An orientation assembly was held in Macomber to acquaint sophomores with Whitney and its faculty. Meetings were held to further their knowledge on Whitney's function and purpose.

In October sophomores were guests of juniors at a get-acquainted dance in the gym.

With November came the holiday season in which everyone participated. The annual Christmas party was enjoyed by all.

On Whitney's birthday in February, sophomores learned the history of their school and participated in the annual spelldown.

Campaigns were held in May for election of junior class officers.

At the end of the year sophomore representatives selected 1962 rings which are purchased in the junior year.

With the help and understanding of advisor Cleona Chetister, sophomores were now ready for the remaining and most important years at Whitney.

Distributive Education Club of America consists of DE seniors only. This club was organized in Zanesville, Ohio.

As in every activity, money was needed and this required teamwork for each member.

A pin with the words, Distributive Education Clubs of America, engraved on its surface was adopted for official recognition and identification. Every member wears this proudly.

In 1947 the national advisory board brought together all the Distributive Education Clubs into one organization. The purpose was to exchange ideas, develop leadership, set high occupational standards, stimulate a professional attitude toward work, promote good citizenship.

On November 4, 1959 the DE CA Regional Convention was held at Bowling Green State University.

1. It enables the club activity to become a part of the total program of trade and industrial education.
2. It provides an opportunity for a greater number of trade and industrial students to have a part in this student organization.

The Creed

I BELIEVE IN THE DIGNITY OF WORK

I hold that mankind has advanced to his present culture through the intelligent use of his hands and mind. I shall maintain a feeling of humbleness for the cumulative knowledge and manipulative art that I receive from craftsmen. I shall conduct myself with dignity in the work I do.

I BELIVE IN THE AMERICAN WAY OF LIFE

I know our culture of today is the result of the freedom of action and opportunities won by our American forefathers, and I will uphold their ideals.

I BELIEVE IN EDUCATION

I shall endeavor to make the best use of the knowledge, skills and experiences that I obtained in school in order that I may become a better citizen in the community and a better workman in my chosen occupation. To this end I will continue my learning both in and out of school.

I BELIEVE SATISFACTION IS CREATED BY GOOD WORK

I feel that compensation and personal satisfaction received for my work and service will be in proportion to my creative and productive ability.

I BELIEVE IN HIGH MORAL AND SPIRITUAL STANDARDS

The most important function of Student Council is to promote the general welfare of the student body.

Student Council officers are juniors elected at the close of the sophomore year. Each class elects one girl to serve as a representative. She attends all meetings and brings back a report on all activities.

The council sponsors the Area Student Council Dance, Christmas and spring breakfasts, the Homecoming Dance. The members usher at commencement and assemblies. The tax stamp race among shops is also their responsibility. At Christmas time, Student Council acts as a clearing bureau for relief to needy families by Whitney shops.

To Beverly,

Although I did not know you in school I think that you are a very sweet girl and will go far in the future. Since you and I have started to work together the days do not seem long and dull. Hope we work together for a long time. Best of luck always.

To Bev

Since you have started to work here at the Lab. we've gotten to know each other well. You have the qualities of a girl who will get where she wants to go. And if I know you you'll get there.

Best of luck
Always.
Dany

To Bev,
One heck of sharp girl

To Bev,
You're a real nice kid. My only regret is that

more time to know
you better.
